My worst fears are that students will become too dependant on technology and not learn skills that they can use in every day situations. For example, a student that has a part time job but can't do math on their own because they have become too dependant on a calculator. The cash register is broken and they can't make change!	1	.4	.4	100.0

Currently, projects are completed using Power Point, Microsoft Word and internet research. Though these are technological tools we are trying to teach are students, we also need to maintain basic skills of looking things up in a book and legible penmanship. A balance of both skill sets will show success in these efforts.	1	.4	.4	99.6
